TELEGRAPHED FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

From Richmond.

RICHMOND, May 14.—No news from Fredericksburg to-day.

Passengers report that large volumes of smoke was seen this morning in the direction of the Yankee camps.

The aggregate number of wounded brought here since the 1st May, is seven thousand one hundred, of which three thousand have since returned to duty.

The retaliation resolutions adopted by Congress provides that every commissioned officer who shall command any negroes in military service against the Confederate States, or aid them in any military enterprise in said service, shall, if captured, be put to death, and that negroes, when captured in arms against the Confederate States, shall be dealt with according to the present or future laws of any State.

The Montgomery Advertiser, in speaking of the crop prospect in that State, says:

"We have it from good authority that in some portions of Alabama—and we presume the same is true in regard to other States—the breadth of land in wheat is so great, that the few inhabitants left in those sections of country will not be able to save the entire crop. The importance of this subject would justify the Government in detailing men from the army to assist in the work of harvesting; but this will not be necessary if the planters in the counties formerly devoted to the culture of cotton will send some of their surplus hands to aid their neighbors. If they will do this, they will thereby be enabled to procure a supply of wheat for themselves, benefit those portions of the country which have been drained of their laborers by the war and render a lasting service to the country and the cause." Planters in every section of our country should lend each other a helping hand when necessary.

THE TRAITORS.—It is reported that about two hundred of the enemy recently captured near Rome, Georgia, by Gen. Forrest, are Alabama traitors. They have deserted the cause of the Confederacy, proved false to their own State, and turned their backs upon their homes to join the invaders of the South. No punishment is too great for such wretches. They are utterly abandoned and degraded, and if justice has her own they will speedily grace the gallows. Mean and despicable as the plundering Yankees are, they are angels of light as compared with the craven scoundrels who have turned against their own mother, and engaged in the work of robbery and outrage on their neighbors. The troops from the North should be paroled, but the tories should be turned over to the civil courts of the Confederacy, to be tried for treason. They have forfeited their lives and should be made to pay the penalty of their crime.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Response to Lincoln's Fast.

The good Book says the prayers of the wicked are an abomination, etc., and the Savannah Republican thinks it has never been more strikingly illustrated than by recent events. Lincoln ordered a forward movement in Virginia, and simultaneously, but to precede, a day of national humiliation, fasting and prayer. The papers inform us that the religious appointment was religiously observed especially in the Abolition capitol. The armies of the North then moved forward, and we have Heaven's response in the late glorious victory for the Confederate arms.

It follows, that Lincoln must be brought to doubt either the efficacy of prayer or the righteousness of his cause. We should take it that he is staggered, for the more he prays and "pegs away," the worse he is whipped.

WHEAT CROPS.—We have just conversed with a gentleman direct from Alabama who informs us that the wheat in the portions of that State which he visited, is now in "dough," and that it does not need any more rain to ripen it. In two or three weeks at furtherest it will be ready for harvesting.

He further states that the yield will be unprecedently large. This is cheering news to many who have been living on a short allowance of flour.

The wheat crops down the M. & W. R. R. are fine. They are not quite so forward as those we spoke of in Alabama; but they will soon be beyond the reach of the casualties to which a wheat crop is subject. It will not be six weeks before flour will be as plentiful in this country as it was ever known to be. And then what a fall in prices!—Atlanta Intelligencer.

A CHAPLAIN'S BADGE.—The Chaplains of the army in Tennessee have adopted as a badge the Maltese Cross [illegible], yellow, about an inch in diameter, worn as a Major's star on the collar, on each side. They use also the Staff buttons and grey cloth with black facings and trimmings, like Surgeons.

The New Orleans Delta reports the capture of the United States gunboat Cayuga and the killing of the Captain.

Miscellaneous.

Three doors of Vallandigham's house had to be broken open before he was taken.

The Washington Chronicle says that the preparations for the enforcement of the Enrollment Bill are nearly complete.

Rev. Mr. Parks, a Catholic priest, has been arrested at Parkersburg, West Virginia, charged with being in communication with the enemy.

The War Department has ordered that no extracts from rebel papers which contain news unfavorably to the Union cause shall be telegraphed from Washington.

Rev. Mr Martin, a Maryland Copperhead, residing opposite Alexandria, has been arrested for treasonable practices, and, with his whole family, sent across the lines.

The Supreme Court of Minnesota has decided that the law passed by the Legislature of that State, suspending the privilege of all persons who are aiding the rebellion, prosecuting and defending actions in any of the courts as unconstitutional and void.

The ship Punjaub, from Calcutta, reached London April 26th. She was captured March 14th in lat. 9. long. 31 W., by the Alabama, but the cargo being British property, was released, and the vessel bonded in the sum of $85,000.

The Democrats of Maine will hold their State Convention to nominate a candidate for Governor, at Portland, on the 18th of June. The Copperheads having been silenced, to a great extent, in that State, a war Democrat will probably be nominated on whom the party will unite.

A correspondent of the Herald, describing the Yankee trip to Port Royal, Virginia, says: "Negro slaves who were offered their freedom, refused to come over with our troops. One small store was broken open by the boys, who confiscated about a hundred dollars of Confederate money, ladies' shoes, pocket combs and fancy goods."

GEN. FORREST.—The Atlanta papers say this intrepid chieftain is again in the saddle in another chase after the Yankees. It is said that he has mounted the 5th Georgia and other reinforcements on the captured horses, and gone towards Talladega in pursuit of another raid.

HORSES STOLEN.
WAS stolen from my stable, near Gibsonville, N. C., on the night of the 27th instant, TWO HORSES—one Claybank horse, very large, blind in left eye, and a small iron gray Mare, with good eyes, and her fore-top having been recently trimmed. When the horses were taken, the thief also took a collar and bridle for each horse, with the cover of my wagon.
I offer a reward of FIFTY DOLLARS for the return of my horses to me, with or without evidence to convict the thief—or for any information leading to the recovery of the horses. My address is Gibsonville, N. C.

[Raleigh State Journal.

An abominable practice of trafficking per money is, we regret to say, far too prevalent throughout the Confederacy. Scarcely a squad of Yankee prisoners arrives at any of our towns. but is beseiged by the avaricious money-getters with offers of two to one for all the "greenbacks" in their possession. The result is simply this: The shrewd Yankee discovers the "fate of a prisoner of war" to be no such unhappy fate after all. He not only fares better as a Confederate prisoner, but he finds his generous captors willing to double his pocket money, and relieve him of the useless trash furnished him by the abolitionists for fighting Americans of the South. He is paroled and exchanged, and returns to the camp to tell the jolly story to his companions of "what rare times we had in Dixie." The camp is full of the excitement. The marauders, after these recitals, are all impatient to be sent upon some galloping excursion to Rome or Atlanta or Chattanooga, or some other point in the far South, where doubtful greenbacks are worth two for one. "Why," the Yankee will very naturally exclaim, "these rebels have no confidence in their own Government—they even doubt the currency of their own nation, which is the nation's life. Truly, 'greenbacks' must be money after all, since they rate so high in Dixie."

Instead of treating the despoilers of their land—the insulters of their wives and mothers and sisters—with the dignified, ineffable contempt they deserve, too many men of the South, alas! are willing not on'y to hold converse with the scoundrels, but to trade with them for their own miserable currency. Bah! such degradation is sickening to contemplate. Would that we could all rise superior to such littleness of soul.—Chattanooga Rebel.

A YANKEE ESTIMATE OF GEN. BEAUREGARD.—The New York World, in speaking of the fight at Charleston, makes the following allusion to Gen. Beauregard:

One result of this fight will be to restore Beauregard to the favor of the Southern people. True, he is boastful, egotistical, untruthful and wanting in tact, but he is certainly the most marvellous engineer of modern times. By his genius and professional skill he has erected batteries at Charleston harbor that would sink all the wooden fleets of the world, did they come under fire, and he has succeeded, moreover, in driving back in disgrace the most impenetrable iron-clad fleet afloat. There is no denying what this man has done, unpalatable though it may be to the Northern people.

One of the Yankee officers brought to Richmond, told a gentleman who was in conversation with him, that Burnside was not beaten at Fredericksburg, he was repulsed, but that Hooker had gotten "perhaps the d—est drubbing that ever a General had."

CHARLOTTE.

Friday Morning, May 15, 1863.

Yankee Prisoners.

We protest, most earnestly, in behalf of the citizens of Charlotte, against the privileges allowed by the officers having in charge Yankee prisoners bound for Richmond, who are allowed on their arrival in Charlotte to run over the city and communicate, freely, with a certain class of our population.

We call upon the authorities of the city to enforce or enact such police laws as will effectually suppress, hereafter, such unwarrantable privileges, for the miserable band of thieves, incendiaries, murderers and despoilers of Southern maidens and matrons, captured while on their hellish expeditions, are not entitled to any privileges nor countenance, in any way, by Southern men.

We hope this hint, which has been suggested by several of our most influential citizens, will prompt our authorities to put a stop to such privileges hereafter.

A Touching Letter.

The annexed letter from Gen. Lee, on learning of the wounding of the lamented hero, Gen. Jackson, is peculiarly touching:

CHANCELLORSVILLE, May, 4.—General: I have just received your note informing me that you were wounded. I cannot express my regret at the occurrence. Could I have directed events I should have chosen, for the good of the country, to have been disabled in your stead.

I congratulate you upon the victory which is due to your skill and energy.

Most truly yours,
(Signed) R. E. LEE, General.
Lieut. Gen. T. J. Jackson.

The Enemy on our Coast.

While the Northern journals console their readers for the late disappointment by telling them that another expedition is preparing for the capture of Charleston, there are undoubted signs of activity on the sea islands in possession of the enemy. Within the last two days and nights a very large and formidable battery had been erected by the enemy on Folly Island, to bear upon the southern portion of Morris' Island; and, in full view of Fort Sumter, the Yankee sentinel is seen steadily pacing to and fro on his post. An entrenched camp has been made lower down on Folly Island, and unmistakable preparations are evidently progressing. The abandonment of Cole's Island Spring before last, and the difficulties of access on our part, enable the foe to proceed. At Seabrook's Island, North Edisto, there are also indications of earnest efforts to make a safe basis. A force of several regiments has been and is now at work, while five iron-clad gunboats and a number of transports lie in the stream. Some seventy transports are still waiting in Broad River, and the outposts of the enemy in General Walker's District, have, of late, assumed more than ordinary appearances, it becomes us to prepare vigorously to resist another demonstration before the heated term puts an end to active operations. The 16th June, 1862, saw the bold and desperate assault upon Secessionville. We have not yet reached the middle of May. Under all the circumstances, to assume that the enemy will not attack again before fall, would be the most reckless fatuity.—Charleston Mercury.

THE WHEAT CROP.—We are much gratified to learn, from various quarters of the District, that the wheat crop is at this time in a most promising condition. The late pleasant weather, with genial seasons, has had a very happy effect upon it, and the impression is that a much larger crop will be made this season than has ever been grown in the District.

[Lancaster Ledger.

Dr. Peters, who killed Gen. Van Dorn, was formerly State Senator from Hardeman county, in this State, and is a gentleman of wealth, position and influence, whose family connections rank with the first in Tennessee. He is said to have approached Gen. Van Dorn in the street, and presenting a pistol, shot him in the head.—Chattanooga Rebel, May 10th.

At Cairo, the famous 109th Illinois regiment has again mutinied, refusing to march without being paid. Their destination was Vicksburg. They were put under guard on board a transport and sent down the river.

Numbers of young officers who have seen service in the war, and have resigned for various causes, are about to enter the Mexican army, having been offered superior rank to that they filled in the United States army.

General Rosencrantz is putting the Cumberland into a strong state of defence "for the grand final struggle of the rebellion, which he is convinced Tennnessee will be the theatre of."

Grant's headquarters are at New Carthage. Important movements are said to be on foot. At Nashville, over three thousand males and females have been forced to take the oath and bonded.

The New York World predicts a Democratic majority in the State of Ohio in the coming fall elections of 25,000 to 30,000.

The New Orleans Delta reports the capture of the United States gunboat Cayuga and the killing of the Captain.

Gen. Forrest has received a dispatch from Col. Roddy, announcing that the Yankees have evacuated Tuscumbia.

General Curtis has proclaimed Burnside's death order, and put it in force in Missouri.

VALLANDIGHAM.—It appears that the offence charged against this gentleman is resistance to the bloody and despotic order of Burnside, declaring death against all persons who should denounce or oppose the war policy of the Abolition Government at Washington, an act that has no parallel in audacity among the despotism of modern times.

The arrest and trial of Vallandigham brings up the issue squarely between the Abolitionists and Democrats at the North. If the latter have any pluck, any spirit of resistance to tyranny and usurpation, they will now show it. They can dodge the question of resistance no longer without disgrace and dishonor. We predict they will cave in and cowardly yield their necks to the oppressor.

The London Times remarks that in one of the latest American ministerial dispatches, the opinion is expressed that the officers of the American navy are inferior to Southern commanders; the misgivings, continues the Times, exchanged between Mr. Seward and Mr. Adams, are not unfounded.

A SIEGE THAT PAID.—The siege of Suffolk, which was kept up only some three or four weeks, enabled Gen. Longstreet to gather up, besides large quantities of corn, over a million and a half pounds of bacon. At present market prices this would bring upwards of two millions of dollars.

[Richmond Enquirer, 9th.

At Indianapolis, General Haskell, who has superceded Carrington, has issued an order to the effect that newspapers and speakers endeavoring to bring the war policy of the Government into disrepute, violate Burnside's death order, and will be treated accordingly

Four thousand men are constantly at work in the Charlestown navy yard.

RANAWAY from Ezekiel May, near Gibsonville, N. C., my negro boy, BEN, or BEN TOM aged about 40 years. He is ordinarily black, low, and tolerably thick. He left Mr. May, to whom I had hired him, on 27th April, taking with him two of Mr. May's horses—one a clay bank, the other a dun mare, her fore top having been recently trimmed.

May has offered a reward of $50 for the said horses, but failed to advertise for my negro, although he carried from him his saddle horses, together with a collar and bridle for each one, and the cloth cover of his wagon. My negro was seen passing west towards the mountains. I will give the above reward of $50 for the apprehension of said slave, so that I get him again.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, (Militia,)
Raleigh, May 8th, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS No. 4.

THE attention of the Militia Officers is directed to the advertisement of Captain Henry A. Dowd, Q. M., in regard to exchanging cotton yarn for wool. The wool is needed for the purpose of furnishing our soldiers with clothing, and Militia officers are requested to assist the State by urging patriotic citizens to make the exchange, and discountenancing all sales or exchanges with speculators.

Militia Officers are ordered to seize all wool purchased for transportation beyond the limits of the State contrary to the proclamation of the Governor.

Every agent of the State for the purchase or exchange of wool, will receive an appointment under the great seal of the state, and Militia Officers are ordered to arrest all persons claiming to be agents of the State for this purpose, who cannot produce such appointment, and have them bound over to the next term of the Superior Court to answer such charges as may be preferred against them.

By order of Governor VANCE:
DANIEL G. FOWLE,
Adjutant General.

TO THE PEOPLE OF NORTH CAROLINA.

QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, May 7th, 1863.

OWING to the limited supply of wool which the State has had now at its command, and in view of the contingencies of obtaining any great amount from Texas, (heretofore the principal market for her supplies,) I take this opportunity of announcing to the patriotic men and women of the State, that I am making arrangements to exchange cotton yarns for wool and earnestly request all those who have wool will not dispose of it to any person, except he be an agent of the State, and acting under my direction.

There will be established Depositories for the cotton yarns, at points accessible to each county, making it convenient for those who wish to make the exchange to do so with little trouble.

The object in procuring the wool is to clothe N. C. Troops; and it is the duty of every patriot to lend a helping hand in this cause; for while the State will strain every nerve to provide for your husbands, your brothers and your sons in the field, she withholds upon the agency of those at home to assist her; and to do this, you must keep your wool from the hands of speculators, and exchange it with the State for cotton yarns.

Very respectfully yours,
H. A. DOWD,
A. Q. M., N. C. Army.

BY THE GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, I have learned with great pain that there have been latterly numerous desertions from the ranks of our gallant army, and that there are many persons in the country who incite and encourage these desertions and harbor and conceal these misguided men at home, instead of encouraging them to return to duty:

Now, therefore, I, ZEBULON B. VANCE, Governor of the State of North Carolina, do issue this my proclamation commanding all such evil disposed persons to desist from such base, cowardly and treasonable conduct, and warning them that they will subject themselves to indictment and punishment in the civil courts of the Confederacy as well as to the everlasting contempt and detestation of all good and honorable men.

Certainly no crime could be greater, no cowardice more abject, no treason more base, than for a citizen of the State, enjoying its privileges and protection without sharing its dangers, to persuade those who have had the courage to go forth in defense of their country, vilely to desert the colors which they have sworn to uphold, when a miserable death or a vile, skulking and ignominious existence, must be the inevitable consequences; no plea can excuse it. The father or the brother who does it should be shot instead of his deluded victim, for he deliberately destroys the soul and manhood of his own flesh and blood. And the same is done by him who harbors and conceals the deserter. For who can respect either the one or the other? What honest man will ever wish or permit his own brave sons or patriotic daughters, who bore their parts with credit in this great struggle for independence, to associate, even to the third and fourth generations, with the vile wretch who skulked in the woods, or the still viler coward who aided him, while his bleeding country was calling in vain for his help? Both are enemies, sneaking, mean enemies to their country, before whom open foes will be infinitely preferred. Both are foes to their own kindred and noble countrymen who are electrifying the world by their gallant deeds, and pouring out their blood upon the field of battle to protect those very men, who are sapping the vitals of our strength. And woe unto you, deserters, and your aiders and abettors, when peace being made and independence secured, these brave comrades whom ye have deserted in the hour of their trial shall return home honored and triumphant to their homes! To that hide your guilty faces by day, and prowl like outlaws about by night, robbing the wife and mother of your noble defenders of their little means, while they are far away facing the enemy, do you think ye can escape a just and damning vengeance when the day of reckoning comes? And ye that shelter, conceal, and feed these miserable depredators and stimulate them to their infernal deeds, think you that ye will be spared? Nay! rest assured, observing and never failing eyes have marked you, every one. And when the overjoyed wife welcomes once more her brave and honorable husband to his home, and tells him how in the long years of his absence, in the lonely hours of the night, you, who had been his comrades, rudely entered her house, robbed her and her children of their bread and heaped insult and indignities upon her defenceless head, the wrath of that heroic husband will make you regret, in the bitterness of your cowardly terror, that you were ever born. Instead of a few scattered militia, the land will be full of veteran soldiers, before whose honest faces you will not have courage to raise your eyes from the earth. If permitted to live in the State at all you will be infamous. You will be hunted from the polls, kicked in the streets, an honest jury will not believe you on oath, and honest men everywhere will shun you as a pestilence, for he who lacks courage and patriotism can have no other good quality or redeeming virtue. Though many of you rejected the pardon heretofore offered you, and I am not authorized to promise it, yet I am assured that no man will be shot who shall voluntarily return to duty. This is the only chance to redeem you selves from the disgrace and ignominy which you are incurring.

Again our troops have met the enemy, and a great and glorious victory has been won. But several thousand of our soldiers fell in achieving it for us. Every man is needed to replace the gallant dead, and preserve an unbroken front to our still powerful enemy. Unless desertion is prevented our strength must depart from our armies, and desertion can never be stopped while either through a false and misaken sympathy or downright disloyalty, they receive any countenance or protection at home. I therefore appeal to all good citizens and true patriots in the State to assist my officers in arresting deserters, and to frown down all those who aid and assist them. Place the brand upon them and make them feel the scorn and contempt of an outraged people. Unless the good and the patriotic all over the land arise as one man, our army is well nigh ruined. The danger of starvation having happily passed away—the spring bringing and apparently bounteous harvest giving evidence of ample supplies for the coming year—our great army in Virginia again justified in over a mighty victory—I am well assured that our danger now lies in the disorganization produced by desertion. You can arrest it, my countrymen, if you will but make a vigorous effort, if you will but bring to bear the weight of a great, a patriotic and united community in aid of your authorities.

In witness whereof, ZEBULON B. VANCE, L. S. Governor, Captain General and Commander-in-Chief, hath signed these presents and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed.

SEAL. In witness whereof, Zebulon B. Vance, Governor, Captain General and Commander-in-Chief, hath signed these presents and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed.
